Transitioning people from learning to earning

- The PYEI is a direct response to the challenge that too many young people are not transitioning from learning to earning.
- The intervention sets out priority actions which together seek to:
 - Stimulate and aggregate demand and
 - Provide a seamless mechanism for young people to be linked to the opportunities generated and
 - Receive support appropriate to their context and pathway.
- The intervention has already begun to increase levels of alignment across government and create space for innovation in ways that accelerate delivery and catalyse further actions.

A strong partnership approach to delivery

1

CREATE MORE JOBS AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUTH IN THE FORMAL, INFORMAL AND SOCIAL ECONOMY

The critical function is to stimulate, identify and aggregate jobs and work experiences. This will happen through different approaches e.g. sector based approaches, public employment programmes

2

DRIVE SYSTEM CHANGE THAT ADDRESS BARRIERS AND SUPPORTS INCLUSIVE HIRING AND REDUCED UNEMPLOYMENT

Identify and advocate for policy, regulatory, and other changes that will improve the outcomes of the entire system, including changes like reducing data costs, reduce barriers like adapting qualifications requirements to be market-related.

LINK YOUTH TO OPPORTUNITIES AND TO SUPPORT – INCLUSIVELY AND FOR FREE

Connect young people to different platforms in the network where they can to build their profiles, receive nudges to jobs, work experiences and income-generating programmes, encouragement, work-seeker support, learning, and opportunities (e.g. SA Youth, mapping of services, PES).

The national PMN links up all existing networks serving young people to ensure that they are visible across the entire network. Regardless of where they join, they are able to access all opportunities aggregated within the PMN.

Led and coordinated by DEL and the Presidency
